Security has also a clear relationship with the business

What are the main worries your company has if suffering a cybersecurity violation?

Security has also a clear relationship with the business

When considering Cybersecurity Investments, which of the following applies to you?

28% of organizations considering Cybersecurity as a Business Enabler

Conclusions

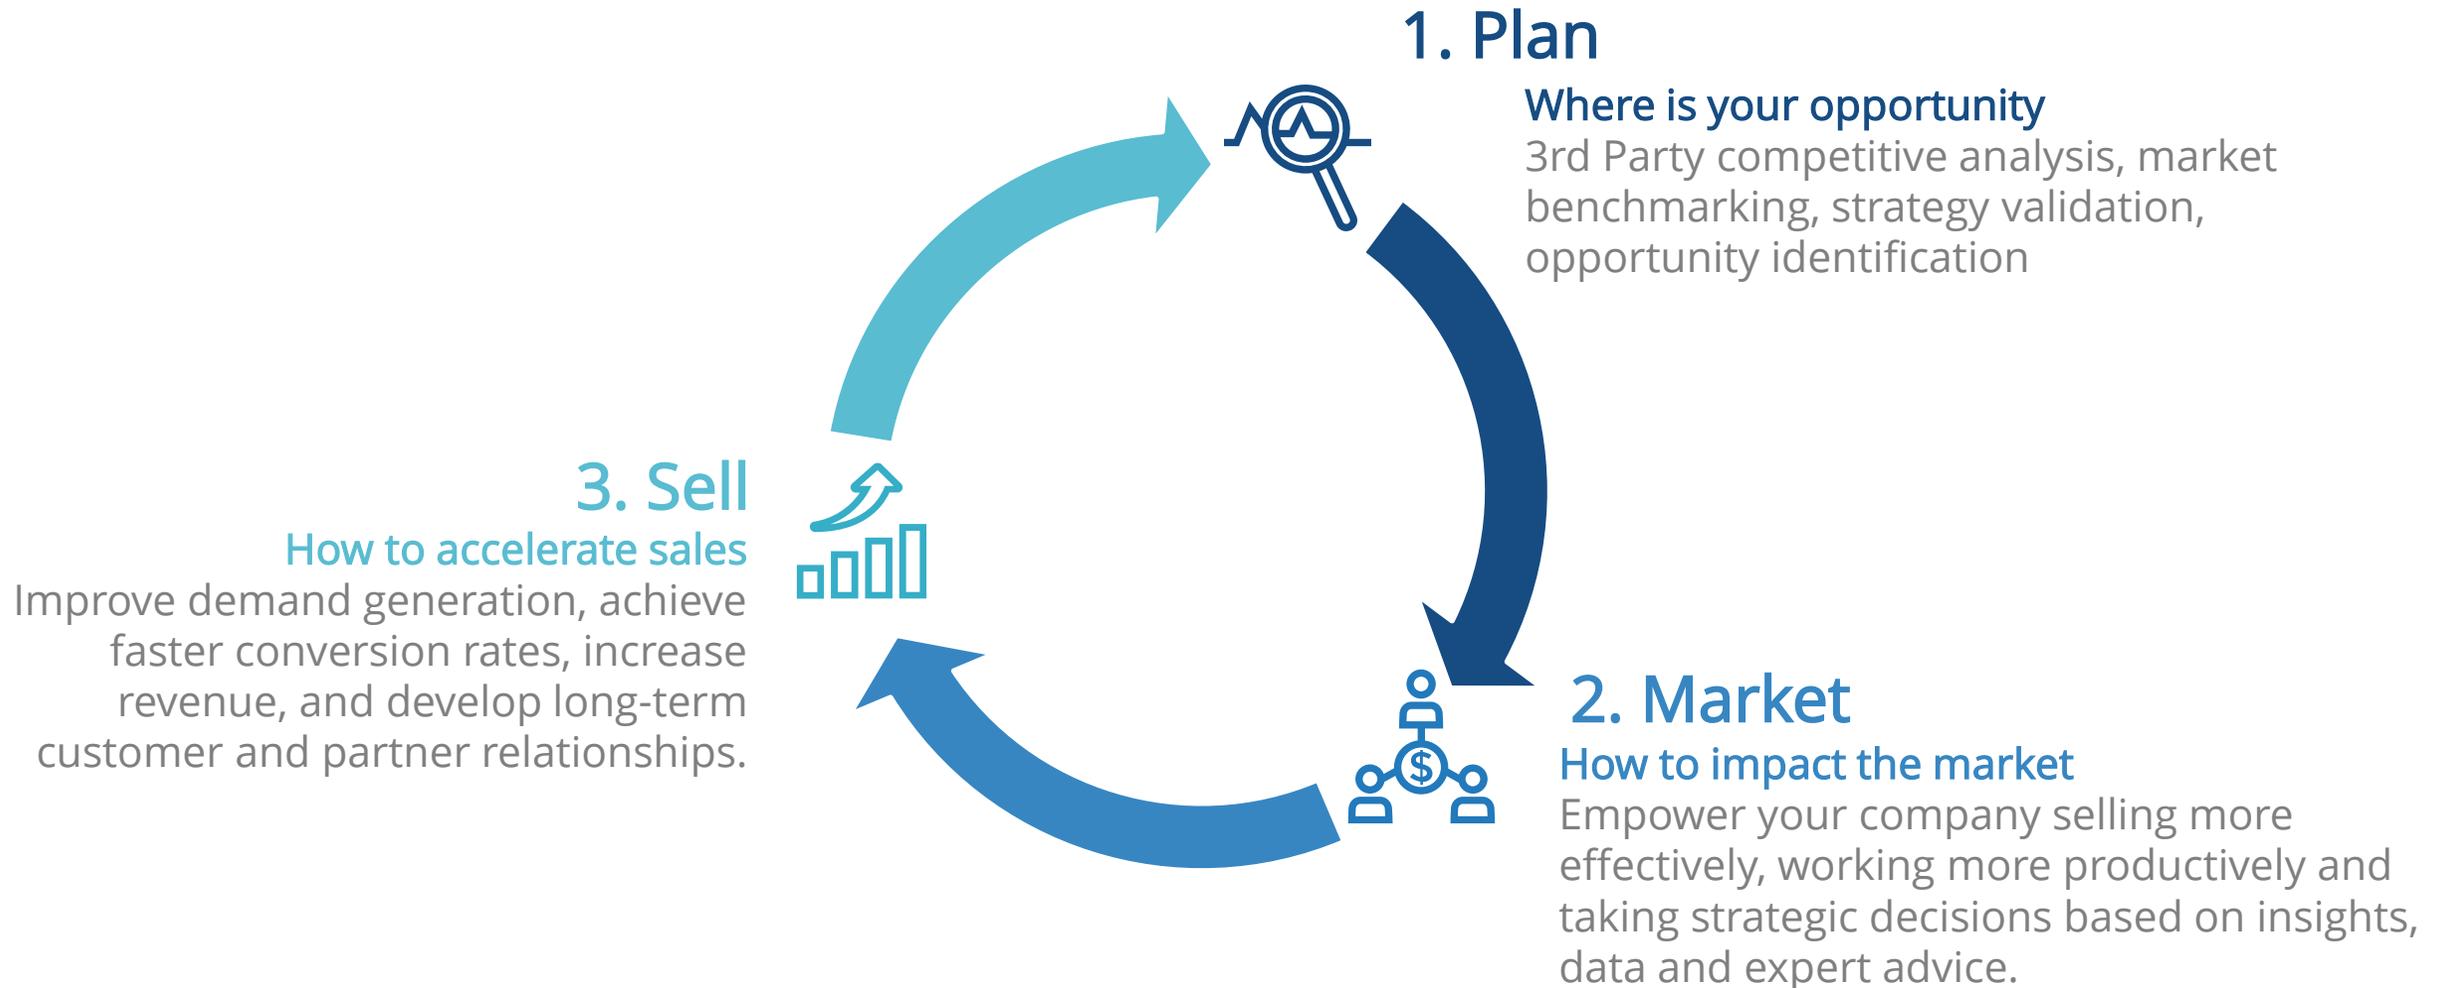

■ Security

- Stays at top priority for the IT executive in Latam, but not on top of spending
 - In US 10% of Software Spend is on Security, In Latam is 7% only.
- Is not just about products – antivirus, perimeter, zero trust.
- When a solution (or innovation) comes from the business, IT may act as a blocker, enabler or neutral.
- Skills gap is huge.

■ Analytics

- Pen for signing innovative projects is in the hand of the business executive and this mostly includes Analytics. Conversation language is “business casual” supported by Use Cases.
- IT sees it as a learning path on how to “eat” this thing and use for getting insights on Security events, support tickets etc.
 - Skills gap is also a challenge, both at vendors and client's side.
